ARMS GIVEN FEDERALS

Say Government Forces Secured Munitions of War in U. S. And Rebels Were Forced to Extract Levy From Americans

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, Dec. 11.—W. S. Tenor of Chicago, H. S. Stevenson of Los Angeles, and E. K. Warren of Three Oaks, Mich., having interests in Mexico, have protested to the state department against what they claim is the practice of the United States in permitting exports of arms and ammunition to the Madero forces in Mexico while prohibiting them to Orozco, leader of the revolutionists. The three men recently appeared before the senate committee headed by Senator William Alden Smith, investigating whether the revolutions in Mexico have been fomented or aided by Americans. The three men have pointed out that the effect of the application of such a rule has resulted in forcing the rebels to levy upon Americans in Mexico by a system of force loans of ransom, to procure weapons of war. They have urged upon the state department that the only means of meeting the difficulty is to turn to the old process of permitting reports of arms and ammunition to both sides without restriction. It has been pointed out by state department officials that under the recent neutrality proclamation the government is prohibited from permitting war supplies to go to the insurgents. It is expected that an effort will be made to have the senate committee recommend either an amendment or the withdrawal of the proclamation.

The president is expected to reach Washington on the return trip Dec. 31. President Taft expects to send to the senate early in January the nomination of Judge Feibon W. Booth, of the court of claims at St. Paul, Minn., to succeed Stanton J. Peelle, who will resign. The vacancy caused by the elevation of Judge Booth will be filled by the appointment of Henry S. Boutwell, American minister to Switzerland.

Judge Landis Takes Sharp Issue With Treasury Department Officials in Oleo Revenue Cases.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Chicago, Dec. 11.—A difference of opinion between Federal Judge K. M. Landis and officials of the United States treasury department at Washington developed today in regard to the investigation recently begun here by the federal grand jury into alleged violation of the internal revenue law by oleomargarine manufacturers. "Congress in its wisdom has given the secretary of the treasury and the commissioner of internal revenue the legal authority to make such a compromise. If they want to compound a felony and compromise a crime, at 7 cents on the dollar, they have the legal right to do so. I can say no more as to my attitude in the matter, except as it may be inferred from this statement."

DYNAMITE WITNESS

William H. Quigley of Detroit Taken Into Custody by United States Marshal Today.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Indianapolis, Dec. 11.—William H. Quigley, Detroit, business agent of the carpenters' union, today was held to the federal grand jury on the charge that he had committed perjury as the witness at the "dynamite conspiracy" trial. He was taken into custody by a deputy United States marshal. A hand writing expert said Quigley's signature to a letter calling off the explosion was genuine. Quigley testified the signature was a forgery. "I ask that the witness Quigley be recognized by the court as held to the federal grand jury," said District Attorney C. W. Miller, "as it has been conclusively shown here that perjury has been committed. I ask that he be held without a hearing before a commissioner."

RAILROAD VALUATION
INCREASE A MILLION

Tax Commission Assessment Figures Show Eight Million Dollar Advance.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Madison, Dec. 11.—While the preliminary assessment of the railroads announced by the state tax commission today shows an increase of only a million and a half dollars by comparison with the final assessment of last year, there is an increase, however, in the assessment of approximately eight million dollars. The preliminary assessment of all the roads shows a valuation of $226,000,000 as compared with $225,000,000 last year. The last legislature, however, excluded the railroad terminals from taxation and made them taxable locally. Between six and eight million dollars included in last year's assessment are exempt this year.

CHILD LABOR CASE
WIDELY DISCUSSED

State is Determined in Fight on Diamond Match Company for Violations of Law.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., Dec. 11.—Wide comment has been aroused by the state action against the Diamond Match Company at Oshkosh for fines of $19,900 alleged to be due for violations of the child labor law. According to members of the Industrial Commission this is the first action of the kind ever instituted. In the past all child labor prosecutions have been carried on in the criminal courts, the employer being fined $10 or more and the case closed immediately. In the state's present suit, the complaints sets forth 199 specific violations of the law and $100 in alleged accumulated debt of $100 in fines for each offense, a total of $19,900. It is understood that many more alleged violations by the same company are on records of the Industrial Commission.

"The Industrial Commission hopes that this action will make clear its attitude on violations of the child labor law," said Chairman C. H. Crowhart. "It is not our intention to permit violators to get off with a trifling fine in the criminal courts. In the past not a few employers have violated the law deliberately, believing that the profits would permit the payment of a possible fine and still leave a good margin of velvet. We are charged by the legislature with the enforcement of this law and we are going to enforce it. We do not propose to see the dollar put ahead of the welfare of children. It is the intention of the Commission to enforce this law and any other employers who care to take the chance of violating it will face actions similar to that started against the Oshkosh concern."

That the Industrial Commission is not alone in its intention of enforcing the law is made plain by the attitude of the Governor and the Attorney General. In the present case the Governor called upon Attorney General Bancroft to prepare the case with the assistance of Chairman Crowhart of the Industrial Commission. Mr. Bancroft assigned the work to Attorney General Russell Jackson who worked on it for some weeks before the full complaint was sent to Oshkosh for service.

RAISING LEVEL OF
RAILROAD BRIDGE

Track crews in the employ of both railroad companies today were working at the ends of the present joint railroad bridge across Rock river, raising the tracks at the approaches to the bridge, and today the level of the bridge on the St. Paul side had been raised slightly at both ends. A crew of Northwestern track men, however, were at work and the raising of the tracks was completed later. With pick and shovel the men have been digging away the frozen earth that held down the ties, so that when the trusses and steel work are hoisted, the work may be done so as to raise the tracks at the approaches with the bridge. The trusses and steelwork of the bridge will be raised on jacks and the bridge shifted eighteen inches upstream. The iron workers' crew have been getting the blocks and jacks ready to raise the bridge and make the shift.

SEVERAL COMPANIES
SUFFER HEAVY LOSS

IN CINCINNATI FIRE

A Million Dollar Damage Results From Blaze Starting in Gibson Hotel Early Today.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Cincinnati, Ohio, Dec. 11.—Firemen were today still playing war with the smoldering fire of the Gibson Hotel, Readings, and Lothmann department store, W. L. Douglas Shoe Company and the upper ten stories of the seventeen story Union Trust Building which was wrecked by the fire which started at eight o'clock last night.

The fire menaced the heart of Cincinnati's downtown district and the loss is estimated from $100,000 to $1,000,000. So far as known there was no loss of life but nine persons are injured, none of them seriously.

Scrub Women Trapped.
Scores of persons were imperiled but the heroic work of rescuers saved them. Forty-five scrubwomen were in the Union Trust Building when the fire started. Over a score of them were made prisoners by the flames until rescuers ran elevators through the smoke and flames to the hysterical women.

A lot of the guests of the Gibson hotel are believed to have escaped. They were notified in ample time.

Workmen's Torch Cause.
The fire is believed to have been caused by a workman's torch in the new part of the Gibson hotel and a neglected bonfire. The fire spread rapidly and in a few minutes crept along the wooden wall just along back of the Gibson hotel proper and from there it spread to the Readings-Lothmann department store and then to the Union Trust building.

Loss Near Million.

The Gibson hotel manager estimates the loss at $500,000; Readings-Lothmann about $200,000 and the Union Trust Co. $200,000. The contents of numerous offices were destroyed in this building and this loss may bring the total damage up to $1,000,000. Damage to the Douglas Shoe Co., $25,000 and Missouri Pacific Ry., office $18,000.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Manitowoc, Dec. 11.—Papers were served today yesterday on Mayor Henry Stolze, socialist, in quo warranto proceedings to test the eligibility of the mayor to hold appointments on the city water commission. In the new action Mr. Rahr declares that he seeks to establish a policy for the future benefit of the city alleging that the presence of the mayor on the commission is adverse to public interest. Ex-City Attorney A. L. Houdon has been retained by Mayor Stolze for defense in the first action. City Attorney H. L. Kelle, appearing for the city, which is also made defendant.

PRESIDENT OFFERED
YALE PROFESSORSHIP

Taft is Considering Offer to Become Kent Professor of Law at His Alma Mater.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, Dec. 11.—President Taft is considering an offer of the Kent professorship at the Yale Law School. This place has been vacant several years and was last filled by Prof. Phelps at one time minister to Great Britain and has been formally offered to Mr. Taft who has talked the matter over with his cabinet but has arrived at no decision. Should he accept it, his relations to Yale University would be much the same as was former President Cleveland when he returned to Princeton.

Mr. Taft is considering this offer on one side and his original plan to practice law on the other. Some of his friends here are inclined to believe that he will accept the place, though they do not expect that he will make up his mind before next month. The president has had the offer to go to Yale under consideration for some time. He is a member of the Yale corporation, and his desire to return to New Haven has been weighed against one to go back to Cincinnati, hang out his shingle and taking his oldest son, Robert into his office and establish a law practice in his home city.

Smith is charged with having murdered Frank Foxall and Philip Lepper, white bartenders, at a picnic resort near the State Fair grounds on the evening of October 2, last. The victims met death after having spent the day in company of two women. One of the women left the scene before the murders and the other's story of the negro was discredited at first. The girl said that the negro after killing the two men assaulted her. Smith was captured three weeks after the crime and upon his return to this state is said to have confessed to the killings. In his confession he said the white men first called him names and then hit him with a stone before he began shooting at them. He denied the alleged assault on the woman.

EUROPEAN ATTITUDE
INDICATED BY NOTE

ON PANAMA MATTER

Note of Sir Edward Grey Believed to Indicate European Opposition to Enforcement of Part of Panama Act.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, Dec. 11.—The warning of Sir Edward Grey's Panama note that the British government will protest further in case an attempt is made to enforce that section of the Panama act which prohibits the use of the canal by railway-owned or trust-controlled ships may, it is thought here, indicate a formidable European opposition to any attempt by this government to extend the operations of the Sherman anti-trust act beyond the confines of the United States.

It is known that the British embassy is closely watching the developments in the pending suit against the trans-Atlantic steamship lines, though it is not expected to enter a formal protest against that attack upon British shipping interests until the legal proceedings come to an end, with a decision against the British company. The German government also is moving toward the creation of a monopoly in the domestic sale of petroleum regardless of implied warnings that this might in some way, fall within the scope of the Sherman anti-trust act, and the French and Italian and Austrian governments are administering their tobacco monopolies without the slightest fear of the outcome of the investigation about to be made by a select senatorial committee.

RECALL ISSUE CAN NOT BE BEFOGGED AT ALL

RECALL IS BASED ON DESIRE TO MAKE JANESVILLE WIDE OPEN CITY.

MEETING THIS EVENING

Of Persons Interested in Petition for Change in City Officials Will Decide Matters.

While an attempt is being made to befog the real issue at stake in the recall proposition, the promoters of the petition to recall the present city officials will find it hard work to convince the voters of their real sincerity in the efforts they allege are for the best interests of the city.

The issue is the observance of the law or lawlessness and this is the issue it will be fought out on. Just who will be named as candidates should the recall be filed, remains a deep secret as yet, although the names of several have been mentioned in this connection. This evening's mass meeting of those interested at Eagles' hall will doubtless clear the atmosphere on this subject.

Some of those who are favoring a recall profess to be in sympathy with law enforcement and as proof of their position they cite it as a fact that we have state laws covering the entire field over which the council has sought to operate. They call attention to the fact that we have state laws against the sale of liquor to minors; against the sale of liquor to intoxicated persons; against the sale of liquor on Sunday; and also ample law prohibiting operating of disorderly houses.

But the fact remains in order to set in motion these state laws, which are good enough in themselves, it is necessary for some public spirited citizen to make a complaint and this must be done as to each and every offense.

There is no doubt but what some semblance of law observation could be enforced if the citizens formed themselves into a vigilance committee and conducted a guerrilla warfare against the force of lawlessness, but every one knows that when a city lacks the power to enforce obedience to the law of its own ordinance and through its own officials, there is practically a suspension of law and all forms of profitable viciousness will thrive.

If the recall should become effective it would be taken for granted that the public sentiment of this city was not in favor of law enforcement and those who profit by disorder would take heart all along the line. They are to be the law all the time and can afford to be so. All the time, while the average citizen wears of his labor of love which has about it many aspects which are very disagreeable.

It is a well known fact that if public sentiment is not strong enough to support reasonable enforcement it is practically, and in fact is impossible to satisfactorily employ state laws.

Of course the smooth politicians who are in control of this propaganda dare not admit openly that the issue is one of law observance, but they will attempt by various subterfuges to avoid this issue and try the matter on some collateral branch.

It is a proposition upon the whole commentary when one finds that the few reasonable regulations that our city officials are endeavoring to enforce, have been the accepted law of most of the other cities in our neighborhood for the last fifteen years.

In Beloit, in Rockford and Madison, those cities nearest to us, these regulations have been strictly enforced. In Rockford the saloons closed at 10 o'clock, had no screens, no music, no women patrons, no minors, no chairs or tables, and no gambling devices. And yet with all that strict regulation Rockford voted out the saloon and is still doing business.

Those who oppose the proposed regulation in this city claim that the business of the city is involved. It is admitted that some business is involved, but it is a silly and a forceless argument for one to claim that law enforcement and substantial business do not go hand in hand.

It is time for Janesville to drop off of the frontier and take its place among the well ordered cities of the state.

NEARLY SIX HUNDRED CHARGED INCOME TAX

PERSONALTY TAX OFFSET WILL OBVIATE PAYMENT IN MANY INSTANCES.

CITY TO RETAIN MOST

Entitled to Seventy Per Cent of Proceeds—Taxes Run From $60.01 To $527.45.

Five hundred and seventy-five Janesville people, not including corporations, are chargeable with an income tax according to the tax roll filed in the office of City Clerk J. P. Hammarlund. Only a limited proportion of these, however, will pay the tax assessed, the law providing that where the amount of the personal property tax exceeds the income tax the latter need not be paid and in all cases the personal property tax will offset its equivalent in income tax. Where there no offsets allowed for personal property tax, the total amount realized from the income tax in this city for 1912 would be some $21,000, this being the amount charged on the tax rolls. Seventy per cent of the income tax collected goes into the city treasury, twenty per cent to the county and ten per cent to the state.

Eighty-five persons are charged with an income tax of twenty-five dollars or more, and the amounts vary from $527.45 to one cent. The former represents the tax on an income of $14,874.14; the latter on an income of $50. Ambrose J. Corbett is charged with the lowest income tax, and Harry Harke with the next lowest, which was $6.25. Other low sums on the roll are fourteen, twenty-five and thirty-four cents. One individual is charged with a tax of $458.11 on an income of $13,893.35, another with $373.27 on $12,631.74, and a third with $359.25 on an income of $12,193.00. Other large amounts of taxes charged individuals are: $303.44, $219.25, $221.15, $219.25, $128.51, $101.62, $130, $123.78.

Janesville corporations will pay a large proportion of the income tax, $20,000. The Janesville Machine Company is assessed with the largest amount, $2318.32. Others heavily charged are: New Gas Light Company, $1562.04; The P. Hohenadel, Jr. Company, $8571.52; and the Rock River Cotton Company, $1278.62.

Tax-payers will find on their receipts this year in addition to the amount of their real estate and personalty tax for 1912, taxed at the rate of $13.82 per each thousand of valuation, a special column in which will be placed the addition or rebate on the payment of taxes for 1911, the result of the readjustment following the late re-assessment of the city. If a citizen's assessment was raised sufficiently by it to justify a charge, the addition will be given in the receipt, as will also the rebate, if his valuation was lowered by the re-assessment. The city will receive no direct benefit as the result of the re-assessment. The money received from those tax-payers who are charged an addition to 1911 taxes, will all be paid out to those granted rebates. It is roughly estimated that about sixty percent of the tax payers will receive rebates on 1911 tax payments.

MRS. WORRY.

BY C. A. VOIGHT.

Honoring a hero with an automobile has been the rage in baseball for some time. Football fans, not to be outdone, are soon to honor Charley Brickley, Harvard's great gridiron star of 1912, in the same way. The buzzcard is to be presented to Brickley by his friends and former school pals at Everett, Mass., which town happens to be his native place.

Ed. Walsh, Christy Mathewson, Frank Baker, Eddie Collins, Ty Cobb and Joe Wood are some of the baseball stars who have been given automobiles.

"Germany," Shultz, the only western football player ever to be honored with a place on Walter Camp's All-American is to quite the game that made him famous. Shultz has resigned as line-coach of the Wisconsin University team, and announced that he will enter the motor car business with his brother in Indianapolis.

Seven major league players were asked to give an opinion regarding the best second baseman in the game today. Four of them were from the National League and three from the American League. Johnny Evers and Eddie Collins were the choices. Just an evidence of league loyalty.

Europe is awake at last and is taking a deep interest in American sports. Sweden has sent representatives over here to study the American game of football. France is about to have professional baseball. Even Russia has recently opened its gates to the glove men. It is said the work of American athletes in the Olympic games started the athletic revival in the Old World.

Jake Daubert, captain and first baseman of the Brooklyn baseball club has signed up for another three years.

President Navin of the Detroit Tigers is fishing for a good mound artist. The only pitchers of promise that he has are Wheatley and Dubuc. Those two can't pull them through next season, even if they show up better than ever, and his said that Navin would sacrifice a couple of dozen infielders for just one real pitcher.

Johnny Evers, new manager of the Chicago Cubs, says he'll boss the team as long as he's manager. And if Mr. Murphy tries to butt in on his job he intimates that he'll quit. Evers has the right idea. A successful manager must be in absolute control. But there's a question whether he can work his idea out on the Cub club.

Murphy certainly is a disturbing element in baseball. He's at war with everything in sight, including Ban Johnson. Chicago fans are so completely out of sympathy with him that they can see only the White Sox.

FIRST CYCLIST OUT BREAKS COLLAR BONE

Break in Ranks of Fifteen Competing Bicycle Teams Comes Early Today—Thirteen Teams Tied.

[By Associated Press.] New York, Dec. 11.—The first break in the ranks of the fifteen competing teams in the sixth day of the race occurred early today during which one rider was thrown out with a broken collar bone as the result. Major Magin of the California New Jersey team was the rider who suffered the accident. He is in a hospital. The only chance that his partner, Percy Lawrence has of staying in the race is in the possibility that some of the other teams might break, leaving another rider alone. At 8:00 o'clock thirteen teams were tied at 1130 miles, nine laps, when the Sutter brothers were one lap behind. The highest record was 1,128 miles, eight laps. At 6:20 a. m., Gronda of the Austrian team, started to sprint with a jump of fifty yards. Four men went down in a heap on the fourth embankment, but none of them were hurt. A few seconds later Magin fell and broke his collar bone.

There was another desperate sprint shortly after seven when the Sutter brothers tied to gain their lost lap without success. In this Morgan blew a tire and slip down the bank carrying Dedell and Walker with him. The riders were badly bruised but kept in the race.

At noon today, the 60th hour, the thirteen leading teams in the six-day bike race were tied at 1,220 miles, 2 laps, with the Sutter brothers still one lap behind. The best previous record for this hour was 1,202 miles, 9 laps, made in 1909.

GOING UP.
Owing to the extreme height of the new Woolworth building (60 stories or 750 feet) it has become necessary to install a new type of elevators which will set a new pace for swift running as they are the speediest in the world. These elevators will run at the rate of 700 feet per minute—a speed that will necessitate the passing of a special bill through the New York legislature. The rapid running time of elevators is not merely a case of American speed mania. It has been a matter of necessity. The modern American elevator made possible the American skyscraper.

Twenty-five years ago when only hydraulic elevators were in use, operated usually by the cumbersome hand-cable process 150 feet per minute was the maximum speed, and not always in safety. If the Woolworth building were to be equipped with the old style elevator it would require more than 10 minutes for the trip up and down, without a single stop, and allowing for stops more than a half an hour would be consumed in making the trip.

This news item, concerning this great modern skyscraper, the tallest in the world, suggests the thought that the Woolworth building is a monument to the nickles and dimes of the country, for the sixty stories represent a capital of $60,000,000 invested in the string of five and ten cent stores, which dot the land from coast to coast.

Starting in a small way, the Woolworth company has demonstrated to the world what can be done with a business which deals almost exclusively with the smallest coins of the realm, and while some of the great industries of America have struggled for supremacy, this nickel and dime company has steadily forged to the front.

People familiar with the Saturday Evening Post have noticed the page and double page announcements of Wrigley's "Spearmint" gum. Hundreds of thousands of dollars have been spent in advertising this little article which sells for a penny, and the great volume of business secured, at a handsome profit, has made Mr. Wrigley a millionaire.

No one ever complains of prices in a five and ten cent store, and the price of chewing gum is always satisfactory. Which all goes to show that the little things of life are important, and sometimes contain great possibilities.

NOW YOU SEE IT AND NOW YOU DON'T.

The progressive conference, now in session in Chicago, has developed the fact that the irrepressible colonel is still very much in evidence, and proposes to be, for some time to come.

The statement was made, a month ago, that the colonel no longer aspired to leadership, but would continue to be a booster, in the ranks, but a new revelation has come to him, for did he not achieve a victory, in the defeat of the republican party? And nothing now stands between him and the throne, but democracy. This last foe he proposes to vanquish in the next campaign.

The Chicago Tribune, still loyal to the cause, sums up the work of the conference, in the following propositions, which seem to cover everything from the recall of court decisions to a bid for campaign funds.

1—That the progressive party leaders and the 1,500 representatives from all of the states and territories present yesterday, consider Col. Roosevelt the natural nominee for president of the progressive national convention of 1916.

2—That Col. Roosevelt, personally, and the new party leaders accept the late election as a substantial victory; that the republican party is dead and that the immediate onslaught must be made against the democratic party as now organized.

3—That Col. Roosevelt, instead of backing water with respect to his views concerning the judiciary as indicated in the Columbus speech, takes much more advanced ground and is ready for a finish fight on this particular issue. This was emphasized particularly yesterday in the expression of his opinion of the Idaho supreme court.

4—That the progressive party and Col. Roosevelt welcome the support of such men as George W. Perkins, exemplified by the public expression of confidence in Perkins by the colonel and that the latter is not antagonistic to large campaign contributions simply because of their size.

5—That the immediate plan of organization for the new party carries into action all of the states and all of the state leaders who made the fight for Roosevelt and Johnson in the recent campaign and that the 1916 contest is now on, led by the same personnel which handled the 1912 campaign.

The future of political parties may be somewhat clouded, but the ambition of the leader of the great uplift movement is so clear and well defined that all doubt is removed, and he will continue to aspire until he expires.

TO RIGHT TO GET DRUNK.
Traffic in the north of England is practically held up at present because the North Eastern Railway, the best managed road in the British Islands, discharged a locomotive engineer for getting drunk. We derived our idea of the inalienable right in the pursuit of happiness from our British forefathers. It is true that drunken locomotive engineers interfere seriously with the happiness of other people. But the labor union carries on what it esteems to be the tradition of the fathers. The engineer got drunk in his own time; and the tyrant corporation which discharged him had no right, under the union rules, to resent his getting sober in the time he was paid for, even if human life was thereby endangered.

The drunken engineer belonged to a union and because he was discharged, a strike was ordered and the road tied up. That sort of action comes pretty near being despotism. The Pennsylvania Railroad company refuses to employ men who drink, and it would be better for the traveling public if all roads adopted the same policy. If there is any man, in any employ, who needs a clear brain, and steady hand it is the man in the cab.

Governor McGovern returns from the conference of governors, held at Richmond last week filled with ambition to pull off a few reform stunts that will surprise the natives. He was told at Richmond that the eyes of the nation were on Wisconsin, the recognized leader in the great reform movement. He flatters himself that he was elected on the income tax issue, and that the people like it so well that they are clamoring for more of it. One hundred and fifty reform bills are already on file, and a legislature has been elected, with reference to converting them into laws. The million dollars a month, for running expenses, must be produced, and the way will be made easy to "go out and get the mon." But the people of the state seem to like it. And so the reform work goes on.

Mr. Bryan has taken up his winter home in Miami, Florida, and the last issue of the "Commoner" is largely devoted to telling about the reception he and his wife received on their arrival. Mr. Bryan is a good advertiser, and it won't be his fault if the people are not kept advised as to his movements. He will doubtless become a member of Mr. Wilson's household next spring, and Washington will claim him for a resident. If the democratic party think that he has been lost in the shuffle, it has another thing coming. He is still very much in evidence and will continue to be.

Colonel Roosevelt is again in the limelight, and correspondingly happy. He has been invited to shoot big game in Brazil for a year and should be accepted, the progressive party will be obliged to jog along without him. The long distance outlook for 1916 is not very flattering for the Colonel, and as time advances his political orphanage, will not contribute to his happiness. In the mean time, Senator La Follette will attempt to discover where he is at. The alive banner has not yet appeared in the horizon, and the two disgruntled leaders are as far apart as ever.

NAT C. GOODWIN as FAGIN in "OLIVER TWIST"
Nat Goodwin's Production of "Oliver Twist" that played in New York city at the New Amsterdam theatre last season in honor of the centenary of Charles Dickens has been produced in motion pictures which will be seen in this city at the Royal Theater beginning Thursday.
In many ways the motion picture play of "Oliver Twist" is much more acceptable than that ordinarily seen on the stage, in that it has been possible to present a larger number of episodes than is possible in an ordinary play and to make swifter changes of scene.
The pathetic history of the little lad, Oliver, is told in full detail, accurately, and with a swiftness and directness that demonstrates the inherent dramatic quality of the novel.
Mr. Goodwin has made his own version of the play, reconstructed from earlier acting versions, but relying chiefly on that used by Beer-bohm Tree.
According to this adaptation, Fagin, the Fence and instructor of thieves, is made the principal character. Mr. Goodwin emphasizes the humorous side of Fagin's character, eliminating the degree of grim sordidness with which Dickens clothed him.
The part of Oliver is played delightfully by Vivian Burns, who replaces Marie Doré of the original Broadway production. Her work in this gentle and sympathetic character is worthy of the highest commendation. All the parts are acted much more than capably although it is doubtful whether any one single character is interpreted with the energy and power with which the play was attacked in its early days. The part of Nancy was handled most acceptably by Miss Beatrice Moreland, the lady who figured so conspicuously in Mr. Goodwin's unfortunate experience in Los Angeles quite recently.

PRISON, SCHOOL AND
HOSPITAL PROBLEMS
EXPLAINED TO CLUB

AUTHORITIES ON STATE INSTITUTIONS GIVE INTERESTING AND INSTRUCTIVE ADDRESSES.

CRITICISM FOR JUDGES

Who Allow Sentiment to Rule Them In Making Commitments to Reformatory or Industrial School—Insane and Tubercular Treatments.

Methods and problems of administration and management of affairs at several of the state's charitable and penal institutions were presented at the meeting of the Twilight club last evening by men who spoke with authority on their respective topics.

Not only were the aims and purposes of each institution described but an explanation of the actual work that is done in each case served to impress the audience with the magnitude of problems which confront the various superintendents. In addition numerous criticisms of the prevailing system and recommendations for changes and improvements were offered by the speakers in order that Wisconsin may serve her helpless and unfortunate in the best possible manner.

Never before in the history of the Twilight club has there been gathered at one meeting such an imposing group of authorities on any one topic as sat at the speaker's table last evening. With Supt. J. T. Hooper as leader, and to him is due the credit for securing such distinguished men to give addresses, the school for the blind was represented while the other gentlemen were: Hon. Ralph Smith, president of the state board of control; Dr. Chas. Gorst of the Mendota asylum; Supt. C. W. Bowron of the Green Bay reformatory; Supt. A. J. Hutton of the industrial school for boys; and Dr. J. W. Coon of the tuberculosis sanatorium at Wales.

State Board of Control.
Mr. Smith enumerated as briefly as possible in his address the many duties of the state board of control, explaining and amplifying in each case as he considered it pertinent to give an understanding of the various problems. He reviewed the state's experience in controlling its charitable and penal institutions, first with the board of trustees of the state institutions, then the visiting and advisory boards, and lastly the one board of control which was established in 1891. As now composed the board has five members one of which is a woman.

This board, Mr. Smith went on to explain, had entire charge of the ten state charitable, penal and educational institutions. They choose the various superintendents and many of the subordinates; they purchase the provisions and supplies needed at each place either by contract or estimate; and each institution must be inspected at least once a month. During the last two years the board has had the spending of $620,000 appropriated by the legislature for building improvements and the board had to supervise the erection of these.

In addition to the supervision of these institutions the board has inspection and auditing duties in connection with the thirty-four county insane asylums and the county jails. They have other numerous duties such as acting as a board of parole, a commission of lunacy, and the power to issue licenses to home-finding societies.

Parole and Probation.

Mr. Smith spoke in favor of the parole and probation system, citing figures to show how well these plans worked out. The idea of both was that it was the state's duty and opportunity to reform the criminal rather than punish him. Since the board of parole was established in 1907, Mr. Smith said, there have been 1,447 prisoners at Waupun of whom 567 have been applied for parole; 302 of which were granted. Of that number 56 have violated these parole agreements; 22 of these were returned, one is in another state prison, and two escaped. The parole law even extended to the life prisoners, ten of whom have been paroled. Seven of these are now reporting monthly, two have died and the other returned voluntarily.

Dr. Chas. Gorst of the state hospital for the insane at Mendota gave an interesting account of what was done for the insane in this state. He reviewed briefly the history of establishment of insane hospitals, first as state institutions, and then with the county asylums as auxiliary institutions.

Dr. Gorst explained the physical conditions and surroundings at the Mendota hospital. The entire remodeling of the buildings had been undertaken several years ago and has now been largely completed so that there is every modern convenience for the care of these unfortunate. The treatment of the patients, said Dr. Gorst, was simple, consisting of rest, plenty of good, fresh air, and exercise. A minimum amount of medicine was used, such as tonics, laxatives for the treatment of physical ailments.

Pertinent Recommendations.

As far as possible every patient is given employment as soon as they are able. Sewing and household work of all kinds keep the women employed, while the men work on the farm, on the lawn, in the garden and about the buildings.

Dr. Gorst criticized the tendency toward economy on the part of county boards, asylum trustees and superintendents in the care of the incurable insane at the county asylums. He urged for more humanity and religion in the treatment of these people. Among other things he attacked the jury system of the commitment of insane patients as inadequate and entirely unsatisfactory. He spoke in favor of the establishment of a department of insanity at the state university medical school for study of insane cases so that

WEDDING AT NOON

Ceremony Solemnized Today at Home of Bride's Father Near Milton.

Miss Clara Schultz and William Evenson, both of this city, were united in marriage at the home of the bride's father near Milton at high noon today. The ceremony was read by the Rev. T. D. Williams, pastor of the Gargill M. E. church in the presence of a few relatives of the bride and some Janesville friends of both parties. A wedding dinner was served.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Evenson have a large circle of friends in Janesville. The bride has enjoyed the confidence of many through her talents as a trained nurse, while Mr. Evenson has been employed for a number of years as a commercial traveler.

Before the Days of Shorthand.

As all the world knows, the inimitable Samuel Pepys wrote his diary in shorthand and by the same means took down in 1680 Charles II's own account of the battle of Worcester. Previous to this the debates in the House of Commons at the time of the arrest of the five members by Charles I. were said to have been taken down verbatim by one John Rushworth.

Naturally, "We are very sorry," said the Trust, as it forced a competitor out of business. "We have nothing against you personally. It is merely a matter of principle. We are firm believers in the closed shop."

PRISON, SCHOOL AND HOSPITAL PROBLEMS EXPLAINED TO CLUB

men with thorough training in this line might be turned out. Especially did Dr. Gorst condemn the prevalence of degeneracy in this country and the anxiety which is manifest toward checking its spread. All degenerates should be segregated or sterilized, he said, and all venereal diseases, the great cause of all degenerate cases, should be quarantined. "Every effort should be exerted by the state as a duty to produce the best grade of men and women," said Dr. Gorst in closing.

Green Bay Reformatory. C. W. Bowron, superintendent of the state reformatory at Green Bay, has much of interest to tell in connection with that institution. The entire institution was built by the men and boys themselves and all the repair work is done by the inmates of the reformatory. Although the reformatory was established in 1898 until the year 1907 there was no appropriation for a central building. Now a fine new building has been built which if let out by contract would have cost the state $400,000 and every bit of work in constructing has been done by the reformatory's own boys and men. A brick yards at the institution furnished all the brick while much of the iron work was turned out at the shops.

Every man sent to this place is given employment and he is paid wages. He is also charged for his board and for his clothes or anything else that he cares to purchase. Each man has a pass book or a record of his earnings and his expenditures and it is possible for each man to save $40 per year and have everything he wants. A farm of 110 acres is too small, said Supt. Bowron, but even thus limited they raise all their vegetables and sell $4,000 of produce annually.

On One Year Terms. "The reformatory gets the hardened, vicious, scum and dregs of the young criminal classes," said Supt. Bowron, "for such as those the honor system won't go great ways. Under the probation system all the brighter, smarter fellows are out on parole and we have to manage the very worst types who are continually complaining, kicking and nagging. And the worst of it is sixty-three percent of those sent up are sent for one year by our kind-hearted judges. What chance do we have to do much with this class in that time? Eighty-seven percent of those there for two years or under are illiterate. Will any man take the contract to reform them in one or two years?"

Supt. Bowron suggested a plan of dealing with this class of criminals. Let the judge determine the man's innocence or guilt, was the plan, and merely sent him to the institution where a board of examiners or the superintendent would determine how long he should stay. Many of these fellows are fooling the judges and are laughing at them after they have worked on their sympathies was Mr. Bowron's charge. On the ground that justice is protection to society it was an imperative deal with this class with a minimum of sentimentality.

Boys' Industrial School. Supt. A. J. Hutton of the boys' industrial school at Waukesha told of the system in vogue at that institution which he described as a place of confinement and education, the idea being that the boy was confined in order that he might be educated the same as at any other school. Boys were "admitted to the privileges of the school through commitments from courts of justice."

The plan of the school was to give the boys a common school education as far as possible and to teach them trades or employment according to their natural inclination. Supt. Hutton described the work which the boys have to do. In addition to farming, gardening, dairying and such occupations they do the cooking, laundrying, mending, tailoring and other duties which might be called women's work. Manual training and mechanical instruction is given to some while play is not neglected and the boys enjoy baseball and other games to the fullest extent.

Three hundred eighty-eight boys are cared for in ten cottages, each of which is in charge of a competent man and woman, in order that the boys secure personal attention. The plan has been to keep smaller boys separate from the larger.

Judges Again Criticized. Supt. Hutton criticized the judges who sent to his school hardened criminals and declared that he would rather take care of a case of small pox than a second or third offender who boasts about his crimes and who should be at Waupun or Green Bay. Mr. Hutton declared he did not believe in mushy softness or sweet foolishness in dealing with the boys which come to his school. They have to be dealt with sternly and firmly, but the results are in the main gratifying and in spite of difficulties and disappointments he would want to be superintendent of the industrial school if he had the last ten years of his life to live over again.

Dr. J. W. Coon of the state tuberculosis sanatorium at Wales explained the work at one of the latest state institutions. The work in fighting this disease was progressing rapidly said the speaker after it had been given its first impetus in the erection of the Wales hospital in 1906. Citizens of the state were coming to realize more and more the value of checking tuberculosis and within a few years the state hospital would have a large number of county sanatoria engaged in the work assisting the state in its fight to eradicate the "white plague."

Tells of Treatment. Methods of treating the patients sent to the Wales sanatorium were described by Dr. Coon. The patients are kept out of doors twenty-four hours a day. The building is so constructed that it can be opened at least one canvas curtain and a roof serve as protection from wind and weather. Rest, fresh air, sunshine, wholesome food and exercise, much the same remedies as given the insane patients, are the main requisites for curing tuberculosis. Patients are kept for treatment on the average of five months. If not entirely cured they have at least learned how to take care of themselves and how to prevent the spread of their disease. Lectures are given the sanatorium patients on the means of treating tuberculosis and every effort is made to give instruction along this line. Differing from the insane hospital practically all of the work at the sanatorium must be done by hired help as the patients are not able to work.

The work which is being done in Wisconsin by the Anti-Tuberculosis Society was praised by Dr. Coon who declared that in no other state was there being waged such an active campaign against this disease.

The meeting last night was a most instructive one and was thoroughly enjoyed by the club members who expressed their appreciation of the fine addresses by a rising vote of thanks.

The leader for the February meeting, which will be the "literary evening," will be F. H. Jackson.

Dr. Hartman Speaks About Catarrh of the Lungs

reached the doctor's ears. As soon as he heard what people were saying he was very quick and emphatic in his denial of any intent on his part to create such an impression.

No, said the doctor, I do not claim to have any magical cures. I do not claim to have a cure for anything. Judging from the number of letters I receive, however, concerning Mrs. Eberlein's case, from people who have similar complaints, I should judge that catarrh of the lungs is very prevalent. The number of people afflicted are increasing. In spite of the strenuous efforts of health boards catarrh prevails more and more every year.

No, I do not claim to have a miraculous cure. I only recite some of the things the people tell me who take Peruna. The case of Mrs. Eberlein, for instance. She was apparently dying of catarrh of the lungs. Her physician had told her so. Many people who had seen others die under similar conditions thought her to be dying. She commenced taking Peruna and recovered.

Now, I do not undertake to explain her recovery. I certainly do not undertake to say that Peruna will cure anybody in the last stages of catarrh of the lungs. I make no such claim. But I do undertake to say this: As long as there is life there is hope. The doctors are liable to be mistaken. They often condemn people to die when they do not die. They say, "Mrs. So-and-So cannot live twenty-four hours," and then Mrs. So-and-So gets well. They say, "Mr. So-and-So has not a ghost of a show of living," but Mr. So-and-So gets well. Now, what is it that cures such cases?

Every doctor knows that it is the vitality of the patient. The last grain of vitality was not exhausted, just enough vitality left to make one more struggle, and the disease was overcome.

Now, it may happen that Peruna is taken at the critical moment in the patient's struggle against disease. The patient may have been losing ground day after day. At last the light seems hopeless; death inevitable. Some one suggests Peruna. The patient takes it without any hope. The medicine actually does infuse new life into the circulation. They feel its genial influence as soon as it is swallowed. This constitutes the turning point in their disease. The little assistance which Peruna gives Nature at this important point turns the tide of affairs in favor of the patient.

Not that Peruna cures incurable diseases. No, not at all. But Peruna does lend a little much-needed assistance at a time when the feather weight on one side or the other of the balance turns the scales in favor of or against the patient. Scores and scores of times Peruna has come in at these critical moments and saved patients from imminent death. At least it seems so. I have bushels of letters reciting such things.

Peruna is a diffusive stimulant. It stimulates the circulation. It causes a warm glow of health to pervade the mucous membranes of the body. The mucous membranes of the stomach, alimentary canal, kidneys, bladder, lungs, all the mucous membranes are apparently revived, rejuvenated, re-endowed with the glow of health. That is what Peruna will do. And this often saves life. There can be no doubt of it.

Whether the case be one of catarrh of the lungs or any other chronic prostrating illness, the right stimulant at the right time, in the right doses, does the work. Explain it as you may, such things are happening every day.

I prefer not to use the word cure. I do not like the sound of it. I do not like the idea that people generally attach to the word. But that Peruna helps Nature, and helps Nature sometimes when she is sadly in need of help, that I know to be the truth. That I do not hesitate to proclaim. That is exactly what occurred in the case of Mrs. Eberlein, the account of which has caused so much comment.

If I or any of my immediate relatives had catarrh of the lungs, Peruna would be given a thorough trial. I assure you. That being the case, I can conscientiously advise any one else to do the same.

Peruna, Manakin and La-cupia manufactured by the Peruna Company, Columbus, Ohio. Sold at all drug stores.

Special Notice:—Many persons inquire for The Old-time Peruna. They want the Peruna that their Fathers and Mothers used to take. The old Peruna is now called Katarno. WOMAN'S PAGE

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

BEING SATISFIED WITH ONE'S SELF.

"WELL, she certainly seems pretty well satisfied with herself." How often one hears the above or some similar remark made as a criticism, and yet when you come to think of it, how few of us there are who are not "pretty well satisfied with ourselves."

You think that's an exaggerated statement? You know a great many people who are always bemoaning their defects and who seem very far from satisfied with themselves? True, my friend, but believe me, if you could see into the secret chamber at the bottom of their hearts, you would probably find that after all they think themselves pretty superior people. Perhaps they may not have even admitted to themselves that they hold such an opinion. Most of us seldom visit that secret chamber in the bottom of our heart where absolute truth lives, and where we come face to face with our real selves. And so we often fool ourselves in this as well as in other things. But underneath all the surface humility, despite this bawling of his defects, I believe that the average person is pretty well satisfied with himself.

Now mind you, I don't mean that a person with a hideous nose or a very bad temper or an abnormally slow moving mind isn't perfectly genuine when he bawls that defect. No doubt he is, but I think he usually feels that his other superior qualities so far outweigh it that he is a pretty good sort of a person after all.

Surely you have noticed how some people never can hear of other folks' superiority in any line without trying to bring the conversation around to the line in which they claim superiority. "Well anyway, I bet she can't make any better cake than I can" is the way one woman often justifies her sense of her own superiority when she hears of other women's accomplishments.

Of course, we should not confuse the foolish dissatisfaction with our lot which is so common with that divine discontent with ourselves which is so rare. "To be satisfied with your possessions but not contented with yourself until you have made the best of them" is a beautiful ideal, but the average man sadly reverses this in practice.

Isn't it strange when you think what a bundle of faults and imperfections tied together with a few virtues and a talent or two, the most of us are, that we should be able to have this serene belief in our own value? And yet when you think how much we have to see ourselves and how, even to the most altruistic our own concerns are the only things which really count very much, isn't it lucky?

HEART and HOME PROBLEMS

By MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl of 22 and going with a man of 31. He is inclined to be a little sporty and likes to take me with him in fast company. I do not enjoy this, but go with him because I love him very dearly and hate to hurt his feelings. He says he loves me very much and when he gets a little more pay he will marry me. What shall I do?

MAUDE. Dear girl, there is only one thing to do and that is to learn to unlove this man. If he truly loved you he would respect your sweetness and purity too much to risk smutting it in bad company. You can afford to hurt the feelings of a man who has so little regard for your feelings, and I hope that you will save your womanhood, unsmirched, for a worthier man.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl of 17, have been going with a man of 27 for three years and last June we became engaged. Is he too old for me? My friends laugh and say he is. He is very kind and gentlemanly, but his family is not of the best, though he does not live at home.

He seems to think a great deal of me—in fact, more than I do of him, though I love him dearly. He promises to make a good home for me and do as I wish him to. My folks think quite a bit of him, but they do not as yet know of our engagement. I will finish high school this year. Would you advise me to marry him?

UNDECIDED. I would advise that you tell your parents immediately of your engagement and talk the matter over with them. They will probably think that you should wait until you are at least 18 before you marry. If the man is a gentleman in his heart I don't think you need to mind his family very much. The difference in your age is not prohibitive.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am 17 and have been going with boys since I

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Cocunut Candy. Two cups light brown sugar, one-fourth cup refined New Orleans molasses, one heaping tablespoon butter, half cup cream and three-fourths of a large package cocunut. Cook all but the cocunut until it makes a soft ball of wax in water, then add cocunut and cook slowly until mixture makes very firm wax. Toward the last use a spoon, enough to keep candy from adhering to bottom of pan.

I originated this recipe one day when particularly hungry for those nice, nutty, brown sugar cocunut lumps, and my friends all say it's "perfectly great."

EXCELLENT BROWN BREAD. One cup sour milk, one cup sweet straw at a time. The effect is immediate and amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy and have an appearance of abundance; an incomparable lustre, softness and luxuriance, the beauty and shimmer of true hair health.

Get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and prove to yourself tonight—now—that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—that's all.

Advertisement.

milk, one teaspoon soda, pinch salt, one-half cup sugar, one-half cup molasses, one handful corn meal, one handful flour (or one-half cup). Stir to a stiff batter with graham flour. Steam two hours.

FRIED APPLES. Wash and slice into a skillet, six good-sized cooking apples, add one-half cup sugar, one tablespoon butter and one-half cup water; cover with lid and let all the water cook out. The apples will then be tender and ready to serve. Do not pare the apples.

CHOCOLATE ICING. Quickly and easily prepared without cooking—Melt two tablespoons cocoa or grated chocolate, mix it to a paste with a tablespoonful of butter that is soft but not melted. Add enough confectioner's sugar and hot coffee infusion to make a frosting that can be easily spread. This is a delicious icing and when eggs are high priced, as now, doubly valuable. This is enough for a three-layer cake. Flavor with a few drops of vanilla.

The Housewife. TO RESTORE LAVATORY which has become coated brown to perfect cleanliness—Secure about one-fourth pint of muriatic acid from a tinner, pour some into lavatory, leave stand for a few moments, then with a small mop made with a rag securely nailed to a stick, wash, and the coating will disappear immediately. It also acts as a disinfectant. Caution: This acid is a deadly poison and burns; do not get it on your hands.

WINDOWS MAY be kept free from ice and polished by rubbing the glass with a sponge dipped in alcohol.

Economy Apple Jelly. Wash apples before peeling, that are to be used for pies or sauce. About half cover the peels and cores with water and cook until cooked to pieces. Then strain and treat juice as you would for other jelly. I use as much sugar as juice. I find this makes cheap and nice flavored jelly.

Ferns. Boston ferns, as well as other varieties, will thrive if watered with cold tea once or twice a week. It is best to keep them in a window that is not too light, as the leaves will become dry and yellow if the sun shines directly on them.

Things Worth Knowing. I WANTED to have cranberry jelly for Thanksgiving, but with all the boiling I gave it, it would not "stand." As a last resort, I took one quart of apples to a quart of cranberries, cooked them together, and strained, added my sugar and I had beautiful jelly.

I always put apples with peaches for peach jelly, with good success. Perhaps this may help some one who has trouble in making jelly stiff enough to "stand."

TEMPORARY PUMPGATION FOR SICK ROOM. Light both ends of a piece of string (cotton cord), extinguish flame, hang over a chair, door knob or any place.

WHEN PINNING down laces, dollies, curtains, etc., use round-headed pins. They do not hurt the fingers and are easily removed.

A GREAT STOCKING SAVER FOR SMALL BOYS. Take old long black kid gloves, cut off at wrist, so as to leave one clasp on. Pull over stockings before putting on shoes. Fasten clasp and button shoes up over it. Fasten top to support. Not noticeable as they are black, and a great help to a busy mother.

The KITCHEN CABINET. MOST of the unhappiness in life comes from not knowing the true value of things.

THINGS WORTH KNOWING.

It is almost impossible to wash a quilt successfully, as the cotton or filling will become matted. Lay the batting on cheese cloth and tie before putting on the cover, then the outside may be put on with a little extra work and may be taken off and washed, replaced and knotted again, making a perfectly new and fresh comforter.

Never put linen away for any length of time with starch in it, as it rots it and turns it yellow. Wrap all linen to be packed in blue paper.

Tar may be removed from the hands or clothing by the application of lard. Then wash in soap suds.

An old broom or mop handle fitted with a piece of outing flannel cut into strips makes a fine dusting cloth for floors and matting.

Never sweep matting with an uncovered broom, as the straws break and wear the matting.

Baked Peanuts.—Remove the shells and skin from a cup of peanuts, put them into an earthen baking dish and pour over a quart of boiling water, cover closely and bake from four to five hours in a moderate oven, until the nuts are tender. Season with salt and butter and serve hot.

Goulash Stew.—Cut a piece of the neck of beef into small pieces, and brown in hot fat, then place in the baking pan. Brown three tablespoonfuls of rice in hot fat until a tan color and sprinkle over the meat. Dice three onions and three potatoes, brown slightly, place with the meat, season with salt and pepper. Over this pour a can of tomatoes and add a cup of water. Cover and simmer three hours.

Domestic Science DEPARTMENT

CONDUCTED BY Mrs. Alice Gitchell Kirk

Years ago I found, newspapers a very necessary labor-saving article. When the kitchen floor had been freshly scrubbed, newspapers were spread down in front of the stove and sink until after the main work was done, so things might be kept clean and neat as long as possible. They were spread on the kitchen table so that might also be kept clean while preparing vegetables, setting pans, direct from the stove, on the papers; slipping under the garbage can or coal bucket when they had to stand in the kitchen. We lived in the far West at that time, the floors were rough so we put several thicknesses of newspapers (and I do so now) on the floor under the rugs to save the wear on them. When the windows must be opened from the lower sash at night I spread newspapers over my rugs near the window, and the first time was surely a surprise to see the amount of dirt which they had kept from my rugs.

In this same western country, where distances were great for driving, as we had few railroads and knew nothing of automobiles, the newspaper was most useful as a lining in the overcoat, both front and back. Even last night I was caught in the rain without an umbrella, so I purchased a newspaper and put it over my hat, which served the day—and the price of a new hat. This was my beginning in the use of paper and from that time on there has been such a continual use of it that it has been hard to keep pace with the manufacturer in being familiar with the innumerable articles made from newspapers for use and ornament in the home—paper plates, napkins, tablecloths, doilies, napkin rings, paper favors for all festive days of the year, shelf paper, plain and decorated (white and colors), a paper package containing a paper comb, wash cloth wrapped in oiled paper and paper towel, fine when picnicking and all for ten cents. There are also paper tubs, pails, jelly glasses, paper cases of many lengths for hanging coats, gowns for maid, mistress or master.

Cooking bags of paper was the subject of a previous article, and many housekeepers in and around our city had no baking pan to wash, when they cooked their Thanksgiving turkey this year, as it was baked in the paper bag and when done the paper bag was thrown into the waste basket. We have baked many ginger breads in the ordinary cracker boxes. They come in paraffine paper lined. By carefully cutting off the covers and tying a tape around the box so that, as the cake bakes and expands, the box will not get out of shape. When it comes from the oven with a sharp knife cut down the corners of the box, take out the ginger bread and throw the box in the waste basket. Each time this experiment, has proven perfectly successful, and we enjoyed the ginger bread all the more for not having to wash a pan.

One of the best and most sanitary things which has found a place in our kitchen during the past year is the paper roller towel. How glad we were to say "good-bye" to that roller towel which I was always trying to turn around so as to have the clean side (if it had any) be in front. As the cook once said: "Sure, am I wiping the dirt on the towel or is it wiping the dirt on me hands?" We find so many uses for it besides drying our hands and faces. In frying doughnuts, the paper is so absorbent it takes up all the grease and leaves the doughnuts, croquettes, fish, oysters or whatever, nice and being fried perfectly dry. A little piece torn off one corner is better than a brush for greasing pans for baking. When canning fruit or making jelly these towels are used as it saves stains on linen towels, besides much laundering. But best of all, in public places where disease is so easily carried through the pores of the skin from the common roller towel, they are now using the paper towel. It has come to stay, and every other good thing made from paper will surely be welcome in every home where sanitary conditions are desired.

CHATS WITH THINKING WOMEN

by Barbara Boyd

At the End of the Long Distance Phone

SOMETIMES it is helpful to get away from the world for a while; to sit, as it were, at the end of long distance phones, and hear the voices from the world coming to you, but yet to have no part in that rushing, busy life of which the voices tell. As you sit and listen, you seem to see life as in a vision, and to get a better understanding of it.

One voice comes sad and bitter. The speaker is consumed with the desire for money. For him, everything in life centres around that one frenzied ambition to be rich. And all the good things of life that he has, his comfortable home, his charming wife, his good children, are as nothing to him. He neither appreciates the blessings that are already his, nor enjoys the pleasures at his hand, because his eyes are fixed feverishly on the money goal ahead. And the harder he strives for it the farther it recedes from him.

Over another wire comes the troubled voice of one whose family are a continual source of worry. He is doing his part courageously in the world and standing by his post unflinchingly. But others are making his life unhappy. One sister's violent temper is upsetting the family peace, almost disrupting the home. A brother's laziness puts a double burden on him. And so the tale goes. And life to him is one continual session of worry and unhappiness because of the conduct of others.

And over another wire comes a sorrowful voice telling of unrequited love. Life is black to this one and full of emptiness because his very deep and sincere love has gone out to a woman who does not return it. To him, it is a sorrow that simply must be grimly endured. It cannot be cured. But life has lost all savour. And nothing seems worth while.

And other voices come full of petty troubles,—of dress longed for but beyond the means, of social slights, of lack of appreciation, of unsatisfied ambition.

And all the time, life itself is flowing around this old world of ours, serene and goodly. There is nothing wrong with life itself. It is sweet and wholesome. The fault is with us and the way we are using it. We are twisting it and warping it and trying to bend it into channels that never were intended. And thus we reap confusion. Humanity is making all the woe and misery that floods the earth by misusing life. Life itself is a goodly thing.

Barbara Boyd.

"I'M SO HAPPY," SAYS MRS. JOHNSON; JACK SAYS THEY ARE GOING TO PARIS

When Jack Johnson and Lucile Cameron were made one.

Off on their honeymoon Mr. and Mrs. Jack Johnson seem to be enjoying life most keenly. "I am so happy," says Mrs. Johnson. Jack's grin is enough to show his blissful state.

"I guess this will stop all these prosecutions," Johnson remarked shortly after the marriage. This was a slight mistake on his part. Joe indictments under which Johnson is to be tried concern his relations with a different woman, Belle Schreiber.

Johnson plans on taking his wife to Paris as soon as he frees himself from his present legal difficulties in Chicago.

CAN a can catch your confidence? On the grocer's shelves look for the red Rona can. It's large and attractive and inviting—but gives faint promise of the deliciousness within.

making of chocolate cakes, puddings, sauces, frostings, fudges, etc., will be greatly improved by the substituting of Rona for ordinary cooking chocolate.

The Difference. Why is it that when a small boy does something wrong, his mother always says: "I'll have your father wale you when he comes home tonight," but when a small girl does some forbidden thing, does ma say that dad will attend to her case? Not much. She simply calls her into the house, weeps over her waywardness, gives her a stick of candy and says: "Now, run along, darling, and Don't Ever Do It Again."

Near the Cars. An American who recently visited Oxford, says the London Chronicle, asked a railway porter why in blazes they had put the station so far from the colleges. The porter replied gravely: "I dunno, sir; but I s'pect they thought it more handy to have it down here by the railway."

Self-Sacrifice. "De man dat reaches for de biggest of everything," said Philosopher Sam, "allus gets left." "All right," replied Erastus Pinkley, "I'll take de worst of it. You kin hab dis small cucumber, an' I'll take de big watermelon."

Plank Saved Him From Death. A man was saved from death the other day in Washington, D. C., by a plank a few feet below the skylight of the dome of the federal building. He was repairing the skylight when he slipped and fell. He struck a board below which saved him from falling 150 feet.

"THE GREATEST KIDNEY REMEDY ON EARTH" SAYS A GRATEFUL WOMAN

I want to tell you how much good your Swamp-Root did me. About four years ago, I suffered from what the doctors called fistula and for two years of that time, I endured what no tongue can tell. I also had inflammation of the bladder and I tried doctors' medicines without receiving any help. Someone told me about Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root.

After giving it a thorough trial, I received relief, so kept on using it and today I am a strong and well woman. If I ever feel badly or out of sorts, I take Swamp-Root and it always straightens me out. I honestly believe that this medicine would cure all troubles you recommend it for and it is a pleasure for me to send my testimony and photograph to you. I think Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is one of the greatest medicines on earth.

Respectfully yours,
MRS. JOHN BAILEY,
Portland, Ind.

DIET AND HEALTH HINTS

By DR. T. J. ALLEN, Food Specialist

WHOLE WHEAT FOODS.

All of the entire wheat preparations on the market, whether cooked or not, have been more or less injured by excessive roasting or by sterilizing to prevent them from spoiling readily. Many of these preparations are better than fresh white bread, especially for children, but none of them has all the nutritive value of the original wheat. Wheat can be obtained from a country mill cracked after passing through the cleaning process. This grain prepared in the fireless cooker contains all the nutriment of the wheat, a perfect food for the adult. The unbroken grain will keep longer and the finely ground whole wheat flour, which is rarely found in stores, keeps only a short time. Most of the oat flakes on the market have been cooked, some being roasted so much as to be much reduced in nutritive value.

make and was purchased by Mr. Listman in 1886 for $4,000. The violin has improved much in quality and tone in the last few years so that its value is considerably enhanced in that respect aside from the sentimental considerations which make it priceless to Mr.
Listman.

Mr. Connors arrived in the city last evening and is visiting his parents,
Mr. and Mrs. Isaac F. Connors, 208
Cherry street. He is enthusiastic over the program tomorrow night and promises some pleasant surprises.

"A ROYAL SLAVE."

Of the many plays produced during the past ten years, none has attracted more wide spread attention or received warmer praise than Clarence Bennett's great romantic drama of Old Mexico, "A Royal Slave," which comes to the Myers Theatre for two performances, Sunday December 15, matinee and evening. Its freshness and real genuine worth commend it to every admirer of all that is good and wholesome in play-building. The fact that this sterling drama is still everywhere receiving high-water mark patronage is creditable alike to the author, Clarence Bennett, and to its manager, George H. Bubb to the excellent company presenting it and to the amusement loving public. "A Royal Slave" has entered upon its tenth year of astonishing success playing everywhere to capacity audiences. There is only one reason for such phenomenal patronage and that chord in the hearts and minds of everybody, either of serious note or jolly or of the sweeter tone of love —so that each auditor finds something to his or her peculiar taste or fancy. The scenic investiture this season is entirely new and the costuming as usual is elegant. The cast is what it always has been—first class—and headed again by those capable artists, Walter Huffel, and Irene Solomon.

THOMAS W. ROSS IN "THE ONLY SON."

At the Myers Theatre, Tuesday evening, December 17th, Thomas W. Ross of "Checkers" and "The Fortune Hunter" fame will appear in Winchell Smith's "The Only Son."
Of course a play from the author of "The Fortune Hunter" and "Braw-lery Millions" is bound to meet with a warm welcome here. In "The Only Son" Mr. Smith has a story to tell, clothes it in an atmosphere of mirth as well as pathos and points a decided moral. He presents a theme that is close to the hearthstone of every home in the land—a theme which, as the author says, "encompasses a manifestation of modern life and indeed of all ages."

"THE THIRD DEGREE."

Charles Klein author of "The Third Degree" and other successes, makes no secret of the manner in which he endows his characters with virility and life. He admits frankly that he takes them from real life. He graciously acknowledges that "Mr. Brow-ster," the impressive and cogent constitutional lawyer in his latest play,
"The Third Degree" is none other than Joseph H. Choate, the well known
New York lawyer and late United States minister to England. Then, too, it is an open secret that Annie Jeffris, the heroine in the same play, has her prototype in a young woman employed in a paper box factory in Boston, who was discarded by her wealthy husband because she was not sufficiently polished for his set. As for the gruff, unrelenting police captain, his double can be found in almost any large city.

Mr. Klein says that whenever he sketches a character from life, it lends a tinge to nature, which a mere creation of the dramatists brain can not possibly accomplish.

The characters in "The Third Degree" stand out as human beings for the simple reason they are one and all transplanted to the dramatic stage of human existence. It would indeed be difficult to conceive a more charming convincing and natural heroine for any play than Annie Jeffris, the splendid specimen of young American vir-tuehood in Mr. Klein's justly celebrated masterpiece, "The Third Degree," which comes to Myers Theatre, on Saturday, Dec. 14, matinee and evening.

REVISED STATUTES TO BE READY SOON

New Volume of 2,700 Pages Will Contain All General Laws in Force at the Present Time.

The revised statutes of Wisconsin, as provided for by chapter 546, laws of 1909, will issue from the press and be ready for distribution before the opening of the new year.
Some 8,000 volumes will be printed and will be procurable from the superintendent of public property.

The new work will be a boon to lawyers and all others who frequently must consult the statutes. In place of three volumes with an index in volume two, the revision all is found in one volume of about the size of one of the statutes of 1898.
The paper upon which it is printed is slightly thinner than formerly used but the entire volume will contain but 2,700 pages. In it will be found all the statutes given section numbers by the legislature, in fact all the general statutes in force at the present time. It will not give the private, local or special acts of the legislature but a table is compiled giving reference to all such acts with citations to the session laws. In all there are some 13,000 sections in the volume, nearly twice the number contained in the pen-drous books of the laws of 1898. The work takes the place not only of the laws of 1899 but of the volumes containing the session laws of eight legislatures.

The new work will not contain the annotations as have former revisions. These will be published in a separate volume, copy for which now is in preparation.

The also will contain a directory of all courts of the state, supreme, circuit, county and municipal, together with the rules of procedure therein; also a directory of all court commissioners.

When the 8,000 volumes are published and distribution has been made to state officials and others entitled thereto under the law, the superintendent is authorized to sell not more than one volume to each person applying therefor, at actual cost to residents of the states, and at 50 percent above cost to persons not residents of the state.

The revision is the work of L. J.
Nash of Manitowoc, appointed by the trustees of the state library, and his assistant, Arthur P. Bell's.
Mr. Nash's salary is $5,000 per year and that of Mr. Bell's $3,000.

As a literary contribution to the new volume Mr. Nash has added a history of the Wisconsin statutes from the earliest times, a very interesting feature particularly to those of the legal profession.

Hereafter the statutes will be revised and published after each session of the legislature, thus avoiding the perplexity of searching through many volumes to find the law as it finally may be.

Dinner Stories

The "baboo English" of India is usually commercial; but recently a baboo lawyer offered a fine example in his defense of a woman client.
"My I earned friend with mere wind from a teapot thinks to browbeat me from my legs," he asserted.
He had probably a "tempest in a teapot" in mind. "I only seek," he continued earnestly, "to place my bone of contention clearly in your honor's eye."

An Indian station master, having been annoyed by a certain female mill-maid, addressed the following remonstrance to her employer:

"Honored Sir: I beg you will remove your handmaiden of milk, as she is not good fellow, and we cannot stand her cheeks."

"When I first decided to allow the people of Tupelo to use my name as a candidate for Congress, I went out to a neighboring parish to speak," said Private John Allen recently to some friends at the old Metropolitan Hotel at Washington.

"An old ducky came up to greet me after the meeting," Marse Allen,
he said, "I's powerful glad to see you.
I's known ob you sense you wuz a baby. Knew yoh pappy long befo' you-all wuz bohn, too. He used to hold de same office you got now. I members how he held dat same office fo' years an' years."

"What office do you mean, uncle?"
I asked, as I never knew pop held any office.

"Why de office of candidate,
Marse John; yoh pappy was candidate fo' many years."

An Irishman just landed got work on the New York Central as flagman at Tarrytown. This first day on the job he waved the red danger signal before the Empire State Express.
The brakes screamed down. The train stopped, and the crew ran up.

"What's the matter? Why did you stop this train?" the conductor demanded.

"Well—" began the flagman.
"Don't you know it's a state prison offense to stop a train without cause?" the conductor exclaimed.

"Why, we're twenty minutes late now."

"That's just it," was the answer.
"Where have you been the last twenty minutes?"

A curious story is told as to how the Rothschilds supported Carafa, the composer. The latter was far from rich. His principal income was derived from a snuff-box. And this was the way of it: The snuff-box was given to the author of "La Prison d'Edinburgh," about thirty years ago, by Baron James de Rothschild, as a token of esteem. Carafa sold it twenty-four hours later, for seventy-five napoleons to the same jeweler from whom it had been bought. This became known to Rothschild, who gave it again to the musician on the following year. The next day it returned to the jeweler's.
This traffic continued till the death of the banker, and longer still, for his sons kept up the tradition to the great satisfaction of the Carafa.

Dinner stories.
"My husband has deserted me and I want a warrant," announced the large lady.

"What reason did he have for deserting you?" asked the prosecutor.
"I don't want any lip from you; I want a warrant. I don't know what reason he had."

"I think I understand his reason," said the official feebly, as he proceeded to draw up a warrant.

Irrigated Lands

Attract of 160 acres in the famous TWIN FALLS Idaho District under the largest irrigation system in the United States.
The owner of this tract has placed the same in my hands for sale for a limited period and I am authorized to offer it at the extremely low price of

$75.00 Per Acre

This price includes perpetual water right.

This piece contains 160 acres of deeded land, 1/8 under cultivation, and was one of the first 30 selections by lottery among thousands. The land lies nearly level, with just enough slope to give it good drainage and will stand the closest investigation.

Young Orchard in Immediate Neighborhood.

I will arrange to meet anyone interested on the ground, or will give an option for a short time pending investigation. The opportunities for buying land of this character at the price offered are daily growing more scarce and it is time now to take advantage of this opportunity.

The land is all that I claim for it. The soil is virgin deep volcanic ash and will raise fruit, potatoes, beets, alfalfa, clover and grain.

The terms are $7500.00 cash, balance in 7 annual installments at 7%. One-half of the tract can be bought at the same terms.

IF A FELLOW MISSED A GIRL IN A ROW BOAT WOULD YOU CALL IT A FISHING SMACK?

My socks are thin and holey.
My ties are frayed and worn.
My gloves are giving up the ghost.

My shirts will scarce stand washing.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janesville Daily Gazette, Dec. 11, 1872.—Alleged Horse Stealing: Deputy Albright arrested two boys yesterday, on the charge of stealing a horse from Herman Knoff, of this city. The boys claim that they found the horse and while leading him to their home he broke away and escaped. The horse and halter were found in their possession. The prisoners gave bail for their appearance before Justice Prichard tomorrow for examination.

Brief Items: The Myers House omnibus horses have recovered and are once more on duty.

UNCLE WALT

The Poet Philosopher

Copyright, 1929, by George Matthew Adams
BY WALT MASON

I dreamed last night that I had flown far from this world of grief and groan, that I had long despised, and found that heaven was a land of ecstasy, supremely grand, as good as advertised. The angels round me played their lyres and on the Jasper walls the fires of changeless sunrise gleamed; and joyous anthems filled the air, and swaying wings and mansions fair—thus happily I dreamed.

And then a statesman, A VISION from below got through the gate—how, I don't know—and got his choice of crowns; and ere an hour he there had spurned I noticed signs of discontent; the seraphim were frowns. He skinned round among the blest and told them that they were oppressed, and had them peevish soon; their crowns were bargain counter things, they all deserved much better wings, their horns were out of tune. Your heaven once was good enough; progressive measures are the stuff, and we will have them here, with old age pensions for the sharps we've grown too old to play their harps, and always played by ear; with sorrow and dismay I note the female angels do not vote—no wonder they feel galled; St. Peter held his job too long and all his policies are wrong, and he will be recalled. Thus spake the statesman and the sky was ringing with the seraphim's cry, who wearied of their yoke; their gentle souls with wrath were warm, and they were bound to have reform—just then your uncle woke.

Future for American Cotton.

The United States produces the greatest amount of cotton, but speaking generally it is not of the best grade. The swamp lands of Louisiana, when redeemed, will be capable of growing the best quality of cotton and in sufficient quantity to duplicate the long staple cotton crop of the world.

THE DAILY NOVELETTE

For Love o' Her

Nobody knew what the quarrel was about, but it was terrific while it lasted. Long afterward they remembered with shame that he called her a stingy little powderer and she called him a mean old thing.

Finally, with clenched teeth and put her hair, he had taken his hat from under the sofa and departed, swearing that he would never call again, and she told him that she wouldn't let him in even if he died.

"Long about 9.22 o'clock the next evening the door bell rang. With her own fair hands she opened the door and he was switched, 'twas him—'twas he!

"What can I do for you?" she said, so coldly that a cold wind that was just about to blow down the street turned and blew up the alley for very shame.

"—er—I am the piano tuner," he faltered.

"The piano is in the parlor," she said, "it needs it. Kindly do not get the keys all dirty."

And she went coolly upstairs, leaving him alone in the parlor with the King Gillette upright. And, though he did not know a bass string from a sounding board, such was his love that in 23 minutes he had the darn thing in part and scattered from one end of the parlor to the other. At that moment she entered the room.

"Oh!" she gasped, "for luvva me?"

"Yep," he gulped, "for luvva you!"

With their arms around each other's necks they telephoned for a real piano man to come and put it together again.

WHAT TO BUY FOR CHRISTMAS AND WHERE

We offer Diamonds at prices that positively cannot be duplicated by any retail jeweler who is doing an exclusive jewelry business. We buy direct from the big New York importers. We merely charge you a small fee for placing the order, so that practically you get the benefit of the wholesale price, and you pay nothing until satisfied.

Our jewelry and watch department was installed by Mr. Lawrence Doty of the Webb C. Ball Co., Chicago, and that in itself is a guarantee of quality. This stock is all new and up-to-the-minute in design. As to prices, we underprice even the big Chicago houses on the same goods and we can do this because we do not look to the jewelry business for a living.

Bettina's Incognito

After I have refused three other proposals you may come to me for your final answer." Thus did Bettina deliver the ultimatum.

Wetherell surveyed her blankly, a stunned look taking gradual possession of his face.

"And you want—other admirers, suitors?" A pained expression crept into Wetherell's eyes and caused the straight black lashes above them to contract sharply.

"Most girls do, you know. It's a little weakness of the sex—a strategy to provide harmless amusement. Men have so many diversions and risks so few!"

Bettina rose and followed him out to the door. "You take everything too seriously, Bobby," she said at parting.

"Then you didn't mean—"

"Of course I did, stupid!" she laughed. An instant later he was gone.

Exquisitely gowned in a morning robe of pale blue Miss Robeson sat toying with her chocolate spoon after a late breakfast.

The maid entered with two letters on a silver tray. A glance at the handwriting on the back of the largest caused her to shut her lips tight. The other letter she merely glanced at and shrugged.

With eager fingers she broke the seal of the one bearing the mysterious chirography and with a wildly-beating heart read:

"My Dear Miss Robeson: May I take the liberty of addressing a few words of interest and praise to one whom I admire more than words can express?"

"You do not know who I am, but I have seen you thousands of times and watched your career with no trivial degree of enthusiasm.

"I wish you would let me be your friend, Miss Robeson, if only at a distance. My interest in you is deep and genuine and it would afford me the keenest satisfaction to be allowed to follow you in your upward march and contribute what small crumbs of encouragement my modest position in the world of literature will permit.

"Sincerely, Huntington Crosby."

Bettina Robeson re-read the letter three times in bewildered silence. Huntington Crosby! She had never heard of such a person! But perhaps that was an assumed name.

By way of dismissing the subject from her thoughts, she picked up Bobby Wetherell's hastily scrawled letter and glanced through it. He would be very busy for the next few days; he could not come on Friday night, or Sunday afternoon, either—and he regretted exceedingly that he would not be at liberty to take her to the horse show Tuesday. When she finished reading it, Bettina did a very contrary thing; she stamped her white-slipped foot upon the carpet and tossed Bobby's letter into the trash basket. Then she rose abruptly and crossed the room to a little rosewood writing desk in the corner. She would answer Huntington Crosby's letter!

In due time came a reply to her carefully worded little note. It called, undeniably, for a response, and as Bobby was still extant, the response was punctual.

Crosby's third letter contained an exhaustive pen picture of himself, and he requested permission to call. After a good deal of reflection, Bettina granted it. She was growing desperate over young Wetherell's neglect.

But her admirer was "called south on unexpected business," and the golden opportunity slipped by.

For several weeks the mails between 1234 G street and "Maplewood" were kept busy. The climax came when Bettina received a proposal of marriage by special delivery. When she began to read the man's endearing words, she was shocked, horrified. But by the time she had reached the signature, a complete change had come over her. Bobby Wetherell had been flirting outrageously with the girl across the way, and it took her exactly ten minutes to write—and accept her mysterious wooer.

The wedding day broke clear and sparkling as a sapphire.

It had taken a fortnight to make preparations for the event, and not even the Robeson household knew of Bettina's strange procedure.

The hour was set for 11, at the little chapel a block away, and promptly on the stroke of the hour Miss Bettina Robeson descended matter-of-factly from her carriage in front of St. Catherine's, and walked toward the door.

A tall man in a dark gray traveling suit was leaning against the little green iron fence, and he joined her at once. The minister had preceded them only a moment, and the couple entered in silence. After the ceremony they stood looking long and earnestly into each other's eyes.

"I was half afraid when you saw me, you'd back out," he said, the first to speak.

The bride opened her purse and drew forth an engraved card. She held it out to him with dancing eyes. The name traced upon it was Mrs. Robert Knight Wetherell.

The newly-made groom stared at her with nonplussed eyes.

"Oh, Bobby," she laughed, "you're the biggest goose. When you wrote me that special delivery letter you forgot and signed your own name."

Heart to Heart Talks.

By EDWIN A. NYE.

BLESSED ARE THE MERCIFUL.

Judge Porterfield of Kansas City, presiding in the famous Hyde murder trial, asked this question:

"Has any man on this jury ever been convicted of felony?"

There was no answer.

Afterward, however, one of the jurymen sought the judge in chambers and said:

"I am an ex-convict, convicted twenty years ago. Since then I have been leading a square, honest life. I couldn't stand up in the courtroom and confess; I couldn't for my family's sake."

The jurymen explained he had been given two years in prison for a shooting scrape.

Said the judge:

"I know you. You are a good citizen. You shall not have to tell your story to any man, and it shall not pass this door."

And that is how this Jean Valjean found a judge with bowels of mercy.

"But," you say, "would any one hinder the reform of such a man or hurt his prospects, a man who has suffered his punishment and now is living an upright life?"

Listen to this tale. I personally know it is true:

An ex-convict of exemplary record was paroled by the state board of pardons and went to an Iowa town where he had lived in all good conduct and joined a church. He was asked to take part in the program of a church entertainment.

Now, there was a certain woman. This woman learned by some means that the man had served time in prison, whereupon she withdrew from the entertainment committee.

Well.

Learning the woman's action, the poor man said he would step aside. It was in vain the best people urged him to stay, averring they preferred to let the woman go out of the church rather than lose him. He was firm.

What else could he do?

He wrote to the parole board, told the story and asked to be permitted to move to another town in the state, which was granted.

Somebody ought to thunder in that woman's ear, "If ye forgive not men their trespasses," how will God forgive you?

Merciful Judge Porterfield:

Hard hearted woman!

IF THIS IS YOUR BIRTHDAY

Keep in harmony with the things which surround you and thus be able to see what is for your advantage. If you are in employ you will be promoted or receive some present.

Those born today will, unless coddled too much while young, have fine eventempered dispositions. They will be kindhearted and well liked by all their associates. Being of a philosophical turn of mind, they are likely to make valuable scientific discoveries.

MAYOR HARRISON'S EYE ON SIXTH TERM

Carter H. Harrison, Chicago's five-time mayor and present incumbent, is said to have his eye on another term. It is believed that before long he will announce his determination to again be a candidate, although the primaries are two years away. At least, three other Democratic politicians have practically announced their candidacy for the Windy City's chief executive office.

Heart or Man and Horse.

While a man's heart is beating 70 times a minute a horse's only 40 times and an elephant's only 30.

At Once.

"Oh, doctor," exclaimed the nervous young wife, as the eminent surgeon entered the sick room, "if an operation is necessary, we want you to operate immediately. Expense is no object at all." "We will operate at once," replied the eminent surgeon without even glancing at the patient.

Where Charm Lies.

Small kindnesses, small courtesies, small considerations habitually practiced in our social intercourse give a greater charm to the character than the display of great talents and accomplishments.—M. A. Kelly.

Origin of Pawnbroker's Sign.

On the doors of early Florentine bankers was the three-leaf lily sign, the lily being the emblem of Florence, and claim is now made that this is why the pawnbroker of today has the three balls as his sign, which appears to be an evolution of the three-leaf lily.

Irresolution to Be Pitied.

There is nothing more pitiable in the world than an irresolute man, oscillating between two feelings, who would willingly unite the two, and who does not perceive that nothing can unite the two.—Goethe.

Tattooing in Persia.

Until the last generation, tattooing was almost universal in Persia. Today it is rare among the upper classes, but is still affected by the lower classes. Women are tattooed not so much with a view to decoration as to avert the "evil eye," or to hide a blemish, or to cure a malady.

For Protection From Frosts.

Because frosts do the most damage when the air is calm, a Paris scientist has advanced the theory that orchards and vineyards can be protected by electric fans to keep the atmosphere moving.

Geese His Favorite.

Gerrald, the five-year-old son of a hotel proprietor, was permitted to go with his nurse to a large farm in the country, the home of the nurse's parents. After returning home his father said: "Now, Gerrald, tell us who of all the folks on the farm you liked best?" "The geese," promptly answered the boy, "because they eat a little and talk a little and bow to you."

Not Needed.

"Now they are trying to make the cactus edible." "I don't think we need a vegetable shad."—Washington Herald.

Eagle Not Always Brave.

Eagles are generally believed to be very courageous. That they are not always as brave as is supposed is proved by the following anecdote: A naturalist tells of a combat between ten misselthrushes and a white-tailed eagle, in which the latter was thoroughly vanquished, and was discovered squatting down in a shed, where he had been driven in hope of refuge from the angry birds.
